FROM THE EDITOR

Sandy Liddle

Hello again everyone.

We are certainly rapidly heading towards Christmas and whilst it may still seem a long way off, I'm sure it will be upon us before we know it (particularly if the last eight months is anything to go by).

As most of you know, the November meeting will be our Christmas breakup and we will once again have a Christmas Hamper to raffle. So the time has come to seek your donations towards the hamper. Let's make it the best hamper yet!

This month has seen the launch of the Society's own website. There is much more information to be added and some modifications to be made however it is now up and running. If you have internet access, please check it out and let us know what you think. Details are included later in the newsletter.

Deborah Tearle will soon be issuing a fresh supper roster for 2010. If you can assist for just one month during the year, please let Deborah know. A few more volunteers would be great to help ease the load on others who assist more than once a year. If you have a preference for a particular month, please let Deborah know.

I know many of you will be disappointed but there is no "Spotlight" segment this month as no-one has come forward with their profile. I get so many positive comments about this section so please help out and share a bit of information about yourself.

Finally, thank you to everyone who expressed an interest in doing the oral history workshop. It will be taking place next year on a date to be confirmed.

Until next month!

MANY HANDS MAKE LIGHT WORK

FROM THE PRESIDENT

September and Spring are here. Let's hope the cool weather stays a little longer. Last Saturday (29th August) I attended the opening of a memorial lawn dedicated to the Sands' family at the Wynnum Croquet Club. The event was attended by Jack Sands and his daughter Helen as well as a granddaughter from Britain. The Deputy Premier, Paul Lucas was present as well as Councillor Peter Cumming, the patron of the Club. Members of the WMHS were also present. Jack Sands spoke of the contribution to the district of his father, Joe Sands, who was Shire Clerk for Wynnum and Manly. As well as his many duties, Joe Sands found time, with the help of his sons, to build a tennis court. Then his wife, Esther or Hetty as she was generally known, wanted something for the women. A croquet lawn was constructed near the Shire Clerk's cottage and later moved to its present site in Kitchener Park. The Croquet Club today has a membership of men and women who are keen to promote their sport. I am told the game requires a great deal of skill and is a lot of fun. I watched a beginner's game and it lived up to expectations. A future event for the WMHS could be a game of croquet.

I was impressed by Kate Harbison, our speaker at last month's meeting, who talked about the history of the Brisbane River. Kate is our local history librarian, who can be found in the Merv Beitz Room at the Wynnum Library on Wednesdays and Thursdays. The River, and its surrounding suburbs is a thread that brings together the different parts of Brisbane. I enjoyed hearing about the old Victoria Bridge and places such as the Blue Moon Skating Rink, the Trocadero Dance Hall and the Cremorne Theatre which were once on the southern bank of the river. In a few weeks time I am taking a cruise down the river as part of another group's celebrations for Queensland's 150th birthday. I am looking forward to discovering more of the history of the river.

A recent report in the Wynnum Herald says that rebuilding work for the Manly Pool will be finished by the end of October. The 33 1/3 yard pool will be replaced with a heated 25m pool. The new pool will have an access ramp and a toddler pool twice the size of the previous one. The $1.8 million budget will also include provision for new disabled change rooms, plant rooms and landscaped areas.

The Wynnum Choral Society is looking for new members. Dianne Hopgood, the president can be reached on 3396 8107. The Manly RSL is also looking for new members. Ex service people can phone the President Peter Kinsella on 3396 1657 for further advice. I am a member of both these groups and I know the wonderful work they do. The Wynnum Manly Historical Society too is always looking for new members and volunteers. Membership enquiries can be directed to Noela Stratton. Jill Greenhill, our librarian, would also love to hear from anyone who has time to spare. Phone numbers and email addresses of the committee are included in the newsletter.

At our last meeting, we mentioned the possibility of a workshop on oral and family history. Some years ago I taped interviews with some of Wynnum's older residents, some of whom have now passed on. I have recently listened to a few of these. I am glad now that I made these tapes, as the stories the older folk told me would now be lost forever. If you would like to part of this workshop let myself or Sandy Liddle know.

I hope to see you all at our next meeting.

Brian Brandenburg, President

Resource Centre Report - September 2009.

- This year's "Spring Fair" (October 9/10/11) will have passed before you receive your next newsletter. We would be very grateful for any members who can spare time to help look after our display, in particular that nothing disappears!! We are usually at the southern entrance of the large white marquee. Please see Jill if you can help.
- The Society received an email from Mr and Mrs Farbotko of Carseldine who drove to Wynnum on Sunday 6 August to find "Hill Street, Tingal Hill, Wynnum". They were unsuccessful as Hill Street was re-named Alkoomie Street in 1939-40.

Their interest was in George and Jemima McCULLOUGH who retired there in 1910 – 12 from their farm in Fig Tree Pocket. Jemima died at Hill Street on 13 June 1910 at the age of 68 and her husband George also died at Hill Street on 4 October 1912 aged 70. Unfortunately we have nobody who would remember them! However they were listed as living in Hill Street in the 1903 Commonwealth Electoral Roll.

One of George and Jemima's children, Julia, married George Lindsay and the question was, "Did they also live in Hill Street? Yes they did. But one cannot prove, without obtaining Title Deeds if they lived in the same house as George and Jemima McCullough.

George and Julia Lindsay are listed in the Commonwealth Electoral Roll from 1926 onwards in Hill Street and then Alkoomie Street. Julia died in 1943 and George in 1953.

From the position of their listing in the Post Office Directories they could have lived at 92 Alkoomie Street, a house called "Hadstock", one of the early houses in the street.

"Hadstock" is found in the Commonwealth Electoral Roll of 1916 as the home of Amy M G McMurrrie. From 1919 to 1925 Addison and Alice Free lived there, possibly replaced in 1926 by George Lindsay. Unfortunately George and Julia did not use the house name, "Hadstock".

Till next time, Jill Greenhill

The site at 138 – 140 Tingal Road, Wynnum was a blacksmith's shop in 1950, when Mr William A Turpin purchased the property.

The roof of the blacksmith shop was removed in a cyclone in 1953 and soon afterwards the building was demolished. Mr Turpin commissioned Mr Reg Woods, a local draftsman, to draw plans for a two storied building. Mr Turpin himself proceeded to erect the building but he never finished or occupied the building. On 28 November 1959 he sailed overseas to live at Tortala in the British Virgin Islands.

Harding Dean and his son, Robert needed to expand their real estate business and saw possibilities in the partly-finished building. In late in 1971 Mr Reg Woods again was employed to draw plans. Harding's son Geoff proceeded with the development, and "Clayton House" was opened on Friday June 23 June 1972. "Clayton" was an old family name, going back for five generations.

Can anyone provide details of this building?

If so, please see Jill Greenhill.

The Society has a continuing Project to collect information on persons residing in Wynnum, Manly Lota and District before 1912. In 1912 Wynnum became a town in its own right and there were only a few hundred people residing here at that time.

William was born on 5 October 1807 at Moate Castle, County Westmeath, his mother's early home. His parents were William and Sarah (nee Simpson). His grandparents were Walter White of Tubber, a landed estate in County Wicklow and Ann Duckett of Duckett's Grove, an adjoining estate in County Carlow. Hence the surname.

Williams' parents were Quakers and bred horses and cattle.

William enlisted, to the disapproval of his father, so his Uncle Pike of Pike and Pease's Bank found a position for him in a Bank in Dublin. William married Jane Simpson in the 1834 of Lota, County Cork. Her parent's beautiful gardens overlooked Cork Harbour.

William did not like working in the bank. He wanted an outdoor life so Uncle Pike lent him money to come to Australia in 1840 with Jane and their two children, Ernest, born 1837 and Emily, born 1838, who died soon after they reached Sydney.

William left his wife and children in lodgings in Sydney and travelled to the Richmond River district. He used up Uncle Pike's money and bought land there on a river frontage. He cleared the heavily timbered property and built a dwelling. Daughter Helena arrived on 3 December 1840. The sugarcane, cotton and all the cleared land was swept away in gigantic flood and they had to begin all over again.

In 1842 Henry Hawkins came to the Logan Valley bringing stock belonging to William Henry Sutton of Bathurst and established a 50,000acre run named Beau Desert. (The town of Beaudesert today is on the site of the original homestead.) Beau Desert was acquired by William and a cousin George Robinson. William became the sole owner and extended the property from Logan to the seashore and from the Tweed almost to Brisbane. Stockyards included Nerang, Mudgeeraba and Tallebudgera.

Another daughter, Emily was born and died in 18343 and the youngest son, Albert was born in 1847.

Times were hard, due to lack of money and an oversupply of stock everywhere. Staff were in short supply owing to the mass exodus to the Gympie Goldfields in 1851 – 52.

In 1854, with the Crimean War and the need for tallow, cattle and sheep were slaughtered and boiled down and the tallow shipped in casks to England.

In 1857 William, Jane and Helena moved to Eagle Farm, on the banks of the Brisbane River. Daughter Helena was married to Captain Graham Mylne, a retired British Army officer, who had served with a Scottish regiment in the Indian mutiny.

When Queensland's first governor arrived in 1859, William's carriage, with two white horses, was used to meet Sir George and Lady Bowen when they landed in Brisbane.

On 13 November 1860, William purchased Portion 79, of 153 acres for £153, on the shores of Moreton Bay. Here Lota House was built and the family was living in the house by 1864.

William took a seat in the Legislative Assembly in 1861 but is said to have never made a speech.

Lota House had beautiful gardens created by Jane. William gave the house to Jane in 1867.. She died on 2 August 1887, aged 76 years and was buried at Christ Church, Tingalpa. Jane had willed the house to her younger son Albert, but for the rest of his life William lived there. He died on 11 August 1893, aged 86 and is buried in Tingalpa Graveyard.
