FROM THE EDITOR

Sandy Liddle

Well this is our second last newsletter for 2010. I just cannot believe how fast this year has passed by.

This month we commence a new column for you which will highlight an article from an old newspaper relevant to our past. Let us know what you think.

Next month's meeting will be our last for 2010. As usual, we will be raffling a Christmas Hamper(s) and we need your assistance to fill the hamper. Donations are urgently needed. Remember – you may be the lucky winner or winners!

November will also be our last heritage bus tour for the year. This one will be to Bribie Island with a visit to its new Museum. Book early so you don't miss out.

Contributions to the November newsletter are being sought. It would be great to have a bumper issue to finish off the year. Any contribution big or small is more than welcome.

We are also after your suggestions and ideas on what you would like to see included in the monthly newsletter. Please pass your suggestions onto any of the committee.

I Intil next month

FROM THE PRESIDENT

It is October already. The end of the year is coming so fast and there is still a lot to do. The trip to the Tramway Museum and Dayboro was a good day. Despite the low numbers, thirty people, a wonderful time was had by all. At the Tramway Museum, we were taken for a ride in a variety of trams from different eras. There was a tram which once traversed the hilly end of Edward Street during the Second World War years. It was operated by a brake which was filled with sand to slow it down as it descended the steep incline. We also had stories about high spirited school boys who delighted to rock the tram off its rails. The two volunteers who attended to us need to be congratulated for their super human work. The Museum is open on Sundays if you haven't been there yet.

On the way to Dayboro we turned down Gold Creek Road which took us to a lovely spot on Lake Samsonvale. Vern Larsen told us about the Dairy Farm he lived on as a boy. The farm is now covered by the waters of the lake. At the Dayboro Showgrounds we had a lovely lunch provided by the Dayboro Historical Society. We had a range of delicious sausages from the local butchery as well as salad and dessert. Afterwards we had a walk through the town, visiting the Information Centre, Craft Shop and Art Gallery. The trip finished at the picnic grounds on the dam wall of Lake Samsonvale. It is a pretty area well worth another visit.

Our next excursion is the end of year Christmas trip to Bribie Island. It is on Saturday 27th November. Dr Jim Lergessner will be our guide for the day. You might remember him as one of our speakers earlier this year. Jim is a university professor who lives on the Island. He has also written a number of books on the history of Bribie Island and associated areas. Noela Stratton and I will be doing an exploratory trip before the next meeting. We will be able to give you an idea of times and the places we will visit as well as where we will eat. It is important that you let us know as soon as possible if you are coming as we need to have numbers for the bus and bookings for meals.

At the next meeting we should know if we have received a grant for our oral history project "Slates to I pads". An iPad is a computer generated notebook now used by school students. We are asking for money to buy digital recorders to replace our outdated tape recorders. The aim of the project is to record the school experiences of members of the local community. This is important as four local schools are closing down at the end of the year. Wynnum Central, Wynnum North, Lindum and Hemmant. As yet we do not know what is happening to the buildings and grounds of the four schools. However the memories of those who attended local schools remain and we need to record them. If you would like to be interviewed about your school days please let Jill Greenhill or myself know.

By the time you read this the Spring Fair will be over. Many thanks to Jill Greenhill and the many other volunteers who work so hard for the WMHS at these and other events.

Brian Brandenburg, President

"Side Show Alley" Wynnum Central

Information supplied by Peter Hughes

A flash showman, King Anderson, in about 1944, during the latter years of WWII, established an entertainment complex on a vacant block of land on the northern corner of Charlotte Street and the Esplanade, opposite the Bull's Eye Cafe.

There was a large slippery slide, a merry-go-round, a chair-o-plane, a miniature railway. There were skill games such as "Roll your Bowls" where competitors rolled balls into numbered holes to win a prize. The most popular prize was a glass bowl full of fruit.

Loud speakers played popular music of the times, mainly the Andrews Sisters and Bing Crosby. King Anderson was a kindly man to the local kids. He would give us a few free slides to ensure the dip was performing properly and to spread the lubricating liquid evenly over the surface.

The Side Show Alley closed after about two years.

PS. Does anyone have any photographs of this local entertainment event?

- A query, received this month from Bryant Lavaring

Bryant is a member of our Society, but lives in Sydney, New South Wales. He visited Wynnum last month and came to our September meeting.

Bryant spent his younger days in Wynnum and has written to us for the following information:

“I am trying to find information about two of my first primary school teachers from Wynnum North Primary School. Miss Anderson (Later Mrs Mogg) taught me in Grade 1 in 1957. Her first name may have been Jill. I think she married in 1957.

Mr Ingram taught me in Grade 2 in 1958.”

Please can anyone provide information for Bryant?

- A visit from Margaret and Arthur King from Victoria

Margaret and Arthur King were on holiday, touring Queensland when they dropped in at the Resource Centre, seeking information on Arthur's family.

Arthur's grandparents were Henry Thomas and Louisa Ann KING who were in Wynnum in 1903. They lived on the corner of William (Akonna) Street and Chestnut Street, Henry until 1919 but Louisa died in 1952.

Henry King was a tailor. Henry and Louisa had ten children and Arthur's father, Edgar Francis King, died in 1937. Edgar's widow Iris was living in Cusack Parade in 1939 and in Glenora Street from 1941 – 1949.

Does anyone know any members of this family?

The location is Royal Esplanade Manly, Between Cambridge Parade and Benalla Street.

This is said to be the location of the large bathing boxes at Manly, which were dismantled and the timber sold for scrap in the 1960s.

THE QUEENSPORT AQUARIUM

The formal opening of the Queensport Aquarium took place yesterday afternoon, when upwards of 130 gentlemen, and a few ladies journeyed in the company's steamer, "Woolwich", to the grounds where they were hospitably entertained. Among those who accepted the invitations were several members of Parliament, representative gentlemen of the district and leading citizens.

The "Woolwich" left Campbell's wharf shortly before 3 o'clock, but owing to the state of the tide, she occupied over an hour in getting to the wharf. When, however, a small bar is cut away, the approach to the wharf will be more direct and the steamer will be able to accomplish the journey in three quarters of an hour.

Immediately on landing the party betook themselves to the building and were soon interested in what could be seen. Unfortunately, owing to the recent rains the water in the fish tanks was muddy, and but little could be seen of the occupants, but probably by Saturday, the day appointed for the public opening, this will have been remedied somewhat.

The visitors were not long in discovering the seal tank, where four of the mammals were disputing themselves. In the meantime, many had been attracted by the strains of the electric organ in the concert hall, and, wending their way up the broad steps, there were somewhat surprised to find themselves in a large and airy building.

About half an hour after landing, over a hundred persons sat down to light refreshments. Mr J F Buckland, member for the district, occupied the chair, and Mr J D Campbell the vice-chair. The Chairman proposed the "Health and Prosperity of the Aquarium Company." In doing so he said that the gentlemen who undertook the work deserved the thanks, not only of those present, but of the whole of the citizens of Brisbane and suburbs. (Applause). He hoped the venture might prove a great success – and he believed it would - for a place like that which could be reached by river, road and rail, would be beneficial to the whole of the residents. Mr J D Campbell, on behalf of the company, briefly responded, thanking those present for the manner in which the toast had been drunk, and the promising that, in twelve months' time, the aquarium would not be the same as they then saw it,

Mr John Kennedy, in a humorous speech, proposed the health of Mr Buckland, and after that gentleman had responded, the Mortyne Family entertained the company for half-an-hour. After the seals had been fed, the party returned to the vessel, and left for town at 5.30, reaching the wharf three quarters of an hour later, having spent a very pleasant half-day.

The aquarium grounds cover an area of 11 acres, and are situate about two miles beyond the meat works, at the back of Gibson Island. In the centre is the aquarium, consisting of a two storey building, fernery, seal pond, etc. Concerning the grounds, nothing can be said at present except that they are being tastefully laid out, and when plants and trees have grown will doubtless provide a favourite picnicking place.

In the aquarium itself there are six fish tanks, each 12ft long, 5ft deep and 4ft wide, some 3 tons of plateglass having been used in their construction. Round the supports of the building, supports have been used in their construction. Round the supports of the building, grottos have been arranged, and in the centre is a large fountain. One end has been reserved for refreshment booths; while at the other access can be gained to the fernery, which at present is also in a crude state. Immediately opposite the outlet from the fernery is situate the seal tank and basking ground, enclosed with iron railings. The mammals appear to be remarkably tame, and attracted a good deal of attention yesterday.

Over the aquarium is the concert hall, 100ft by 50ft, surrounded by a 12ft promenade. The stage is 14ft by 30 ft, with two dressing-rooms, and is fitted up with all the appurtenances of a theatre. The drop curtains are of plush, and the general appearance is very pleasing. At one side is fixed the electric organ – the only one in the colony, we believe – and at the other a piano. The walls are tastefully painted and decorated, which work was carried out by Messrs Molsby and Gibbs. It is estimated that the hall will seat 1400 people.

At intervals around the grounds are placed small houses and seats for the use of picnickers or visitors together with swings etc.

The principle on which the ground has been set out is similar to that of the Bondi Aquarium, Sydney: and when the place is illuminated with the electric light, which is being installed by Messrs. Barton, White and Co., the resort should prove a favourite one. The company are now negotiating for a second steamer, and when arrangements are completed it is intended to open up the passenger traffic to the suburbs along the banks of the river.

The site was then master planned as a science park, urban housing development and public transport interchange. The former women's prison of 1903 was preserved intact but after 20 years its future is unresolved. The talk will explore the potential of this significant site which contains one of the landmark groups of buildings which defined 'Victorian' Brisbane. Cost: Free – no bookings required
