NEWSLETTER

No 63, June 2014

From the Editor...

Hello everyone and welcome to the June issue of our newsletter.

At our recent committee meeting, we had something a little different - a Facebook demonstration kindly provided by Allan Burrell. If you have access to a computer it is well worth having a look at the WMHS Facebook page. You don't have to be a member of Facebook to see it. There are regular posts of old photos and information from around the district including Myrtle Beitz's very interesting 'as it happened' series. Always something new to see and remember or for those of us who are newer to the district to learn about. If you are signed up to Facebook, be sure to hit the Like button so that you can receive regular updates in your news feed.

In other news from the committee meeting we are planning our next Heritage tour - coming up in September we will be having a tour of City Hall and the beautiful Museum of Brisbane. Look out for more details on page 5 as this promises to be a great day.

Wishing you all the best for the rest of June,

Sharee

From the President...

Greetings...& welcome to winter. How quickly the time has flown since our last newsletter.

June is a significant month for historians, with the celebrations connected with Queensland Day and the History Alive events at Fort Lytton on the first weekend of the month. As we have done in the past, Wynnum Manly Historical Society will be manning a display at the Fort and I would like to thank all of those members who have agreed to help with the display. Your efforts and willingness to give up your time for the society are very much appreciated. As is the efforts of those members who volunteer in other ways.

Two very significant military events occurred in June 1940 and 1914. Firstly, the evacuation of Dunkirk which began on 27th May 1940 was finally completed on 4th June 1940 in what was generally known as the 'miracle of Dunkirk'. Thousands of little ships captained by British yachtsmen, fishermen, and other civilians, under heavy German attack, picked up trapped British Expeditionary Forces soldiers from the Dunkirk beaches, and returned them to the south coast of England. In all 338,226 men were evacuated. (Pessimistic Churchill had doubted that more than 50,000 troops would be extracted). Fortunately, this rescue succeeded beyond all expectations, due to good luck, German errors and the magnificent performance of the rescuers. Churchill chose these words to describe the event...

"We must be careful", he told fellow MPs, "not to assign this deliverance the attributes of a victory. Wars are not won by evacuations."

In spite of his expressed caution, however, he went on to roar defiance with one of history's most stirring speeches which included the famous lines...

"We shall not flag or fail. We shall go on to the end. We shall fight in France, we shall fight on the seas and in the oceans, we shall fight with growing confidence and growing strength in the air, we shall defend our island, whatever the cost may be. We shall fight on the landing grounds, we shall fight in the fields and in the streets, we shall fight in the hills, we shall never surrender."

How good is that!

The other significant military event that happened on 28th June 1914 and precipitated the beginning of World War 1 was the assassination of Archduke Franz Ferdinand, heir to the throne of Austria – Hungary. This event, which took place in Sarajevo, shook the whole world, and mobilised destructive power unprecedented in history.

One wonders how many people in the countries that became embroiled in World War 1 had ever heard of Sarajevo when this event occurred, yet two pistol shots fired into the limousine by Gavrilo Princip on 28th June 1914 triggered one of the greatest wars in history!

Looking forward to seeing you at the next meeting.

Resource Centre Report – June 2014

- Heritage Week 2014

Many thanks to members who came to our open Morning on Saturday 17 May, at the Resource Room and helped celebrate the end of our Heritage Week for 2014.

The weather was fine and there was plenty to eat! We waylaid many Saturday morning Wynnum Library visitors.

The National Trust set the theme “Journeys” for 2014 and we chose to “Discover the Foreshore”. The display is still showing the Resource Room window and we hope to print multiple copies of the booklet after June (when grants again become available).

- A Mysterious Shaft

One of our visitors was walking in the very high, long, grass from the end of Harman Street, below Costellation Way (UBD 143 B13) and he came across the opening of a brick shaft. The shaft was very well built, but now was filled in. The question was why the shaft was there, when was it built and what was its use?

Any ideas? We hope that a photograph may be forthcoming.

- Lopez Family

During the last couple of months we have had two members of the Lopez family visit us for information about the family. Neither person knows of the existence of other Lopez relative and we are waiting for them to make contact.

Lopez shop on the corner of St Catherine Terrace

Family members lived at the shop at the corner of Cusack Parade and St Catherines Terrace. Twins were born in two generations. Twins Sebastian and John Antonie were born in 1872 with father Georgio from Portugal. Twins Ernest John and Sebastian Antonie were born in 1895 with father twin Sebastian Antone born 1872.

Does anybody remember the house on the site of the former Williams Fish and Chip shop or have any more details about the Lopez family?

- Mount Carmel High School

On 26 February 1953 Sister Mary Damian inspected and approved the proposed site for a catholic girls high school in Chestnut Street, Wynnum. The High School opened in 1957 with Sister Beatrice Mary as Principal and 21 Sub-junior students, housed in three rooms at the back of Mt Carmel Convent. On April 9 1961 the School's Foundation Stone was blessed by Father Duhig. The new school was officially opened and blessed on 10 December 10 1961. The school reached full status in 1964 with enrolment of its first Grade 12.

New buildings were needed in the 1970s when three drafts of Grade 8 admitted. The choice was made to build within the school grounds, which unfortunately reduced the size of the playing field.

The first lay principal, Miss Miriam Hobbs, was appointed in 1977 and by 1985 only three Sisters were involved with the running of the school.

Enrolments began to fall and the school was closed in 1992, after thirty five years of service to the local community.

Mary RYAN was one of the first pupils at Mount Carmel High School. During 1957 and 1958 she boarded the train each morning at Ormiston to attend High School in Wynnum. Mary now lives just outside Stanthorpe with her husband and spends her time cultivating their very large acreage garden. Mary would like to make contact with any other of the original girls of Mount Carmel High School.

Please let me know if you can help.

Till next time, Jill (Librarian)

How many of you remember Jim McCarthy, the Jeweller in Edith Street?
Here he is featured in the "Wynnum Herald" in October 1978-

Mall may be the answer to our shopping woes

By HUGH McLEAN

In all things, Jim McCarthy, Wynnum jeweler, is an optimist.

He is optimistic that the Wynnum Central shopping centre can successfully compete with its modernistic suburban rivals and he's confident that next year Wynnum-Manly Rugby League fans will have cause to celebrate.

In business and sport respectively they are Jim's two priorities. As treasurer of the Wynnum Chamber of Commerce, the establishment of a shopping mall in Edith Street, closed to traffic, is a constant nagging thing for Jim McCarthy.

"We must do something quickly if this town is to remain a strong shopping centre," Jim says.

He wants to see the mall a reality and the construction of at least two multi-storey "parking stations".

"Ultimately we would pay for it through an adjustment in rates, but I can't see why the scheme can't get off the ground."

Jim envisages Edith Street as a tree-lined mall, confined to pedestrians, offering enticement to shoppers such as outdoor cafes.

Jim, proprietor of the "Swiss Watch Expert" jewellery shop at Wynnum, justifiably takes an interest in the town's welfare.

TENNIS CHAMP

His father had a similar business and Jim has been a district resident for the past 20 years.

While undergoing a lengthy apprenticeship in watchmaking, Jim's spare time was devoted entirely to tennis, a sport he excelled in. He won several junior championships and so too did his wife Anne.

Jim is an avid supporter of the Wynnum-Manly Rugby League Club and with the help of Bill Lamond, was instrumental in the formation of the Wynnum Rugby League Patron's Club.

The body is an organisation within the club structure, comprising a group of local businessmen pledged to support Rugby League in the district.

Since its foundation 3 ½ years ago, two club presidents have come from the ranks of the Patron's Club, Jeff Mullins and Dr. Jack Hansen.

Jim is satisfied with the choice of Seagulls coach for next season, Henry Holloway.

"I believe Henry is the best forwards coach in Queensland and I'm confident the Seagulls will produce the goods next year." It is not only in sport that Jim wants to see the district "firmly on the map".

Commercially he thinks we're getting a raw deal.

FORGOTTEN TOWN

For the amount of rates we pay to the Brisbane City Council, I think the benefits are inadequate," Jim says. "For too long we have been the forgotten end of Brisbane. Just walk down Edith Street and see how few rubbish bins there are."

Jim, a member of Rotary for 11 years, is also critical of the state of Wynnum-Manly's tidal flats. "Occasionally service clubs take on the job of clearing the flats of rubbish, but it should not be up to them." (A spokesman for the Department of Harbours and Marine recently told The Herald the area was a council responsibility).

Jim's love of sport indirectly led him to becoming the first president of the Association for Recreation and Aid of the Disabled. Jim had been invited to attend the National Paraplegic Games at Carina.

He was impressed with the courage and dedication of the competitors and with the late Fred Gibbs became involved in the formation of A.R.A.D.

Jim spent three years as president, a position now held by former Labor MP Len Keogh.

Jim is still in touch with A.R.A.D. members and takes a keen interest in their activities. He applauds their moves to build new clubrooms.

"It will be a proud moment when the group's dreams of their own clubrooms reach fruition," he said.

Member, Peter Hughes has many a tale to tell about the time, when he was a school boy and lived on Wynnum Esplanade. We thank Peter for his input for "Heritage Week" 2014.

Wynnum Foreshore 1942 – 1956

My mother, brother and I arrived in Wynnum Central in late October 1942, my father a World War I veteran was in Dad's Army, the Garrison, too old for the A.I.F.

We had a front flat in "Beach House" at the corner of Edith Street and The Esplanade, now 155 on the Southern Corner, overlooking the wading pool.

The wading pool had bathing boxes on the southern end, change booths and a cold shower supervised by "Pop" Jones from his one room flat on the western end of the bathing boxes, fee a penny.

Tidal baths at the end of the Wynnum Central Jetty in much better condition than the run down No 1 Wynnum Jetty. Shark netting in good condition, once again a series of change booths, showers and supervised by a retired partly disabled mariner nicknamed "Sandy" or "Fudge" admission a penny. The big morning fortnightly high tides made this a top venue especially Sunday mornings. You were able to have a warm shower as the water pipe ran the full length of the jetty on top of the floorboards. This was solar heating "ala" 1940's. A springboard for diving was another feature.

Another set of public bathing boxes was situated at the end of Bride Street. They jutted over the water at high tide and were very well built, with no supervisor. Vandalism was unknown in those days due to two places of "higher" learning.

The Wynnum Convent had their private bathing boxes at the end of Pine Street, used at high tide level.

. Every few weeks in the Spring/Summer swimming months the wading pool was drained and scooped out by a horse drawn scraper and the mud piled trucked away. This was later replaced by a council yellow caterpillar grader, driven by "Dinger" Bell who lived in Clara Street. He is not to be confused with "Noela's" Fire Brigade Bell.

Maintenance of the grassy areas in respect to keeping them rubbish free (litter was for pups in those days) was done by a swarthy straw-hatted man known as Sam. He walked from Wynnum Creek to Manly (perhaps Lota) with his rubbish bag and "spear" doing a superb job. I do think he was aided by the council signs warning of fines in regards to rubbish, signed by J C Slaughter, Town Clerk.

The Bandstand at the just north of the wading pool was only about 2ft 6ins – 3ft above ground level was lowered prior to 1942. It was also the site of the "soldiers" concerts held near the end of the war and moved to the School of Arts for their final few.

Church meetings on a Sunday afternoon were held between the Barnes Monument / adjoining shelter shed. Salvation Army first followed by some others / finally by the Baptist Church in the late afternoon.

I remember an army searchlight team stationed behind the wading pool dressing sheds for a short time in 1943.

Finally in 1944-1945 I remember Sideshow Alley on the vacant land on the corner of Charlotte Street and the Esplanade.
