Presidents Report

Greetings...& welcome to our March newsletter. Such a lot seems to have happened since the beginning of 2016, one hardly knows where to start. Our move into the Wynnum Community Centre was effectively accomplished thanks to all the careful planning and preparation made by Jill. Also, we must not forget to thank the small group of helpers who assisted in putting everything into place.

Debra has been working on our plans for society outings for the year and we appreciate all that she has done. Bookings for our first tour on Saturday 30 April will be taken at the next meeting. As there is a limit on numbers, please get in early to avoid disappointment.

As announced at our February meeting, we will be having the election of officers for 2016-2017 at the March meeting. Nominations for this have been posted in the Resource Centre, and at this stage, an election will not be required to fill any of the positions. Having said that, it would be good to have some new faces on the committee, with new ideas and suggestions. Any assistance will be gratefully received.

Last month, along with some friends, I was fortunate enough to attend the latest production of the fabulous musical, 'Cats'. (I am ashamed to confess that this was the sixth time that I have seen it!) I saw it for the first time in Sydney about 30 years ago and was really captivated by the whole production.

There is no real story line to it. The whole thing consists of a brilliantly choreographed rendition of the poems of T.S Eliot's "Old Possum's Book of Practical Cats", set to music by Andrew Lloyd Webber. In it we meet all the old favourites such as the Jellicle Cats, Grizabella, Gus the Theatre Cat, Mr Mistopheles, Bustopher Jones, Macavity the Mystery Cat and of course, $79.00 Price includes Cruise, Morning and Afternoon Tea, BBQ Lunch and return coach fare.

Please talk to Deborah (3396 9697) who has first-hand experience, Jill (3393 3208) or any member of the committee if you are interested in joining this cruise.

Shimble Shanks the Railway Cat. The amount of energy in the production is incredible and I just love the talent shown by the poet and the composer.

The composer, Andrew Lloyd Webber was born at Westminster Hospital, London, on 22 March 1948. His father, William, was an organist at All Saints, Marylebone, so he obviously had music in his genetic pool. As well as 'Cats', he has also composed many other productions. These include, among others, 'Evita', 'Jesus Christ Superstar' and 'Phantom of the Opera'. Quite an impressive CV!

The poet, Thomas Stearns Eliot was born 26 September 1888 in St Louis, Missouri and died in London, England on 4 January 1965. He studied at Harvard University before moving to the UK in 1914, where he worked as an editor and critic until his death. AS well as his well known poems such as 'The Waste Land' (1922) his play 'Murder in the Cathedral' (1935) about the murder of Thomas Becket helped to make him one of the most influential writers of his era. In 1948 he won the Nobel Prize for literature and achieved public admiration unequalled by any other 20th Century poet.

All for now. Looking forward to seeing you at our AGM on 17 March 2016.

Best wishes,

Jan Parnell

Resource Centre Report – March 2016.

- The New Resource Centre

We are settling in. All the boxes have gone, the computer is up and running. The books are gradually being sorted and those concerned with the Wynnum Manly and District are back on the shelves again. We have many books that are waiting to for Kate to peruse before we bring them for members at the next General Meeting.

Unfortunately the fans are still not in full working order, one has yet to turn. We await on the Council daily to come and fix the problem.

On March 1st we purchased a sign-board, which sits on the top step outside the front door, when the Resource Room is open. So, please, come and visit us in the old School Office. If you cannot manage the steps, enter the ground floor door in Florence Street, follow the signs to the lift, go to Floor 1 and we are diagonally across from the lift, in the old school office, adjacent to the old front doors of the school.

- Frank Watson, an Early Wynnum Chemist

Frank's granddaughter Kate, is a reader of our Newsletters. She contacted us concerning a photo of her grandfather's shop. She sent a photograph of some of Frank's old chemist bottles and his pestle and mortar that her mother keeps in a display case.

Frank's shop was on the seaward side of Bay Terrace, between Edith and Clara Streets in one of the new brick shops built in the 1950's in front of Henry Hase's house.

If one stands on the opposite side of Bay Terrace, one can see the roof of the house above the opposite shops.

- Pavey Family

We are collecting together all the information that we can find of this large and interesting local family, from their origins in Donyatt in Somerset, with Matthew and Elizabeth's wedding in 1796 to grandson Matthew and Anne's immigration to Australia in 1858. Matthew and Anne produced twelve children between 1871 and 1896. These children became bakers, butchers, carpenters, even a sugar planter.

We are collating the information into a book, so, please if you have any connection or know any details of the family let me know.

Till next time, Jill

Ambo veteran dies

(from the Wynnum Herald 16.3.2005)

DAVID Lloyd, the retired Australian Army Lieutenant Colonel, former president of the Wynnum Local Ambulance Committee and tireless community worker, died at Brisbane Private Hospital on March 7, he was 77.

Wynnum Ambulance Station officer-in-charge Tony King said Mr Lloyd died from a tumour on his liver.

Mr King said about 150 people attended Mr Lloyd's funeral at St Pauls Anglican Church, Manly, on March 10.

Councillor Peter Cumming (Wynnum Manly) said Mr Lloyd's countless hours of community service were effective and efficient".

State Member for Lytton Paul Lucas said he had the highest personal regard for Mr Lloyd.

"He was a man of great integrity ... he was so highly thought of that the senior hierarchy of the ambulance service frequently turned to him for advice," Mr Lucas said.

The ambulance service valued his blend of knowledge and experience.

Mr King said Mr Lloyd had "vast experience with the army field ambulance". He also had a masters degree in pharmacy.

Mr Lloyd is survived by his wife Claire and daughter Elizabeth.

A School for Wynnum?

Part 2

The Early Years - 1896 - 1940

24 February 1896 was the first day in the active life of the new school.

And 89 persons enrolled. The average attendance in February 1896 was only 74 persons. Whilst attendance is always lower in June, the reason being "colds" it is thought that if there were more pressing tasks at home the students were not sent to school. There was also the question of the weather, as some students had a fair distance to walk to school.

The early school registers included the occupation of the parents, which gives a good indication of the type of settlement that Wynnum was at that time - tradesmen, shopkeepers, military, service, farmers, fishermen

By the end of June in 1896 127 pupils were enrolled

In 1900 a play shed was built by Jas Thompson at a cost of £95 (which included £16 from the local building committee). It is believed that this building housed a gym in 1904 and was used as a spare classroom as the numbers grew. The shed was fully enclosed as a teachers' room in 1915.

With the presence of the railway line from Brisbane to Cleveland (1889) Wynnum was accessible and was growing from a sleepy seaside village to a thriving commercial town. A one-roomed school with a Play shed was insufficient to accommodate the growing child population. In 1901 another classroom was built onto the original room at a cost of £383/18/10. The new room measured 50ft by 20ft. BY 1907 there was need for a third classroom of similar size which was built in 1908 costing £450/0/0 to accommodate 125 pupils. The student roll stood at 350 pupils, just 12 years after opening.

In 1914 the gas was connected to the school at a cost of £6/0/0 and the teacher's residence, a rather primitive dwelling, without running water, was sold. Dry rot had been detected and the stair treads needed replacing. The stove was sold to Moreton Fishing Club and the house was moved to Stanley Street South Brisbane. The Headmaster was given a rent allowance, instead of a residence.

In 1917 an annex, 64ft by 25ft was built to accommodate 200 pupils.

At a public meeting held on 4 July 1917 a committee was formed to investigate the formation of a Secondary Department at Wynnum. Secretary Mt Charles Parish Goodman wrote to the Under Secretary of Public Instruction requesting the establishment of a Secondary Department to meet the requirements of the district which extended from Cannon Hill to Redland Bay. There were 107 potential students who wished to move to Grade 6 in 1918.

On 29 January 1918 the High School Department or "High School Top" was opened which had necessitated constructing another new wing, 72ft by 20ft in 1919. However, by 1921 the classrooms occupied by the "High School Top" were desperately needed by the ever increasing number of primary students. The High school students were offered free places at the Commercial College in the city and Brisbane State High School which was to open in July 1921. The Wynnum Central High School Department within Wynnum State School was closed in June 1921 but the rooms were immediately used to accommodate the ever increasing number of primary pupils.

The memorial against Charlotte Street, Joan Ross in 1952 School Fete March 2016

In March 1918 it was decided to turn the area in front of the school in Charlotte Street into a Memorial for those who served in WWI. This was to be a grand entrance to the new school buildings. A six foot granite memorial, with drinking faucets was built and also a fish pond (which became a sand pit). Framed by camphor laurels this courtyard remained the main focus of the school until the 1950's.

The former area on Charlotte Street where the camphor laurels grew and the Memorial first stood, 2010

At this time the Domestic Science classes were conducted in the School of Arts (present Municipal Hall). In 1923 a room, 30ft by 24ft, was constructed and equipped under one of the existing buildings and the pupils moved onto the school site. Children attending Domestic Science training were drawn from schools in between Cannon Hill to Cleveland and were provided with railway passes where needed.

1924 saw the school request to be connected to mains water to counteract the relentless maintenance of the water tanks, their stands, screening against mosquitoes and drainage problems.

In 1924 Subdivisions 260/1/2 and 292, complete with a cottage, were acquired from Mr J Falkiner of NSW. Though wishing to recoup some of the expense by selling the cottage, teaching space was still of supreme importance. By 1933 Miss McMinn taught the Kindergarten classes in the cottage. Mr Mawhinney, the woodwork master enclosed the 17ft by 8ft veranda for a woodworking room in 1935. This well-used and well-worn cottage was sold for removal in 1949.

The Department of Public Instruction had first option to purchase any subdivisions in the vicinity of the school that was for sale. Subdivision 282 was bought from David Craig in 1929 for £450 and its pine chamfer board house sold for removal. Subdivision 293 was acquired from Mr Samuel Goodwin. In 1913 Subdivisions 265 and 288 were bought from Rebecca Hansen and Subdivisions 263/4 and 289/90 from Richard Russell)

One such acquired subdivision, also purchased from the estate of Mr Goodwin, possessed a garage, which was just an iron clad shed. The garage was connected to electricity in 1928 and used as classrooms for 100 children, classes being separated by material slung on cords. Being a corrugated shed, conditions were rather trying for teachers during a downpour! It is believed the “garage” was used until the opening of the new building 1949. The Parish Priest of Guardian Angels requested the “garage” in 1951 for a classroom!

The Drum and Fife Band was formed in 1931. Thirty players were coached and conducted by Mr V Cousins and his deputy Mr T Potts. This band, performing with military-style precision played every morning at Assembly was to ensure “every pupils arrived in his classroom with military vigour and a heart full of music.” Seemingly this was a male band, considered a very worthy asset to the school and performing for many years. (When did the band cease to exist and why? Someone may know?)

There had always been great problems with the sanitation system as the soil around the school had poor drainage Top dressing from Hemmant Power Station was used to top dress and reduce the size of the large puddles after rainfall. Similar problems were encountered with the earth closets, especially with a large puddle forming at the entrance after every rainfall. However problems were eased in 1932 with the installation of a septic system for £650/0/0.

The 1930's saw the depression years. No new buildings were contemplated. Many children arrived at school shoeless, many fed at the Soup kitchen by the railway line in Edith Street. Diphtheria, mumps, measles and whooping cough were rife.

In 1935 a decision was made to build a High School in the Wynnum area to which pupils progressed from Wynnum Central State School after Grade 5. When opened 1941 the new Wynnum High and Intermediate School had few facilities. Pupils returned for Domestic Science and Manual Arts to Wynnum Central State School.

The 1940's were the War years. Shortage of teachers resulted in half day education. Air raid shelters were dug on the Florence Street side of the boundary. War Identification Discs, either necklets or bracelets, were worn. Each child donned a brown cloak for air raid drill and had a rubber peg to put into their mouths in case a bomb was dropped.

The War was over. There was new hope, and the Baby Boom.

In August 1944 the Parents and Citizens Association applied for a new building.
