NEWSLETTER

No 67, October 2014

From the President...

Greetings...& welcome to our October edition of the Newsletter. Firstly, I would like to thank those who provided feedback on reprinting previous papers in the Newsletter. Although there were some who said that they were all available at the resource centre, many of you were keen to see them in print. Therefore, from time to time, when space allows, we will make them available to a wider audience.

On Saturday 27th September a group of members had a most enjoyable visit to the Brisbane City Hall to view the changes that had taken place during their restoration project and to see the current exhibit on Moreton Bay in their museum. Some of the group visited the clock tower (which as children they had done many times). You will be interested to know that no longer can visits take place whilst the clock is chiming... due to Workplace health and safety of course! I can well remember queuing up just before twelve noon to be there when the clock struck. It was a lot of fun.

From the President

After the tour we shared lunch at the Shingle Inn which is now on the ground floor of City Hall, and were most impressed to see how faithfully it has been restored. Quite a nostalgic time for some of us.

Some October anniversaries include:

2nd October 1788 - With the newly established settlement of Sydney facing starvation, Governor Phillip sent the Sirius to Cape Town to obtain supplies. Captain John Hunter sailed before the Roaring Forties via Cape Horn. His return voyage took seven months! Our early settlers certainly needed a great deal of fortitude!

30th October 1956 – The Suez Canal was closed by British action during the Suez Crisis and was not re-opened until April 1957. The Canal was closed again in June 1967, when it was blocked by ships sunk in the Arab-Israeli conflict and did not re-open until June 1975.

9th October 1887 – The railway line between Townsville and Hughenden was completed.

14th October 1824 – The weekly 'Australian' appeared in Sydney. This was the first privately owned newspaper to be published in the colony. Proprietors were barristers William Charles Wentworth and Robert Wardell.

1st October 1887 – Henry Lawson's first printed poem 'Song of the Republic' was printed in the Bulletin. According to literary critic David Wright, while living, Lawson had many imitators, but no peers. Unfortunately, I don't have a copy of the poem mentioned. However, I will share some of one of my favourites with you.

It is entitled, "Scots of the Riverina".

*The boy cleared out to the city from his home at the harvest time –
They were Scots of the Riverina, and to run from home was a crime.
The old man burned his letters, the first and last he burned,
And he scratched his name from the Bible when the old wife's back was turned.*

*A year went past, and another. There were calls from the fring-line;
They heard the boy had enlisted, but the old man made no sign.
His name must never be mentioned on the farm by Gundagai –
They were Scots of the Riverina with ever the kirk hard by.*

*The boy was killed at Flanders, where the best and bravest die.
There were tears at the Grahame homestead, and grief in Gundagai;
But the old man ploughed at daybreak and the old man ploughed till the mirk –
There were furrows of pain in the orchard while his household went to the kirk.*

*The hurricane lamp in the rafters dimly and dimly burned,
And the old man died at the table when the old wife's back was turned.
Face down on his bare arms folded he sank with his wild grey hair
Outspread o'er the open Bible and a name rewritten there.*

All for now. Looking forward to seeing you at our next meeting.

Regards,

Jan Parnell

Resource Centre Report – October 2014

- Search for Grandmother . . .

Jan Boschetto, of Western Australia contacted the Society. She is searching for information about her grandmother, Alma Jean Clarke, who was born in Bay Terrace Wynnum in the early 1920's.

Can anybody help?

- Search for early hospital

John Allen, also from Western Australia enquired as to whether there was a hospital in Bay Terrace. He was seeking information concerning the birth of his mother, Doris Clarke in Bay Terrace on 2 October 1921.

I feel that the two enquiries are related.

St Mary's Hospital was located on the corner of Bay Terrace and Edith Street (now Ian Fry's Building) from about 1917 to 1924, until the hospital was moved to Chestnut Street and is still standing, almost to Tingal Road on the left.

- An organist of some repute

Julie Pearce is seeking information about a lady called Marjory Horne. Marjory was an organist of some repute and lived the latter part of her life in Lota. Her life as an organist is well documented but little is known of her later years.

Did anybody know this lady?

- Donations from Bayside Branch of Genealogical Society of Queensland
The Bayside Branch has provided us with the final three boxes of unwanted books from their library, which has now been disbanded. There are many travel books, We will bring the books gradually to our General Meetings for members to peruse. You may find something of interest!

- Does anybody know?

“In 1901 Dr Taylor took Mrs Keating's house in Wynnum.”

Can we find any more information about Mrs Keating and about Dr Taylor?

Please let me know.

Till next time

The Shingle Inn Cafe

The historic Shingle Inn in Edward Street was built by David Webster in the Depression of the 1930's.

David first ventured into the bread business in Brisbane in 1883, but by 1900 he was specialising in cakes and biscuits. There was a need in Brisbane for the availability of a "light repast" for City visitors and David set up 11 establishments, one being in Wynnum.

By 1912 the press report that Mr Webster's cafes and luncheon rooms were well patronised.

In the early 1930's, the press announced that there was to be created, in Edward Street, a scheme copying the English "Wayside House". The internal walls were covered with wood veneer panels. The table layout was in "Pullman" style with high settle seats and fixture tables. The roof was of shingles. The architects were Messrs Hall and Phillip and the building contractor, Mr W Lee. The shop fittings were supplied by Messrs Burns, John and Humphries

The Shingle Inn opened on 4 February 1936 with W R Webster, David's son, as Managing Director. David Webster died three months later.

During early 1970s Webster Company was bought out by an Canadian Company who had little concern for the standing of this Queensland cultural landmark. However after brief negotiations, Noel and Barbara Belchambers took over Shingle Inn in 1975, maintaining the staff and food standards. The Inn was listed by the Queensland Heritage Council in 1996.

With the pressures from modernisation and re-development of the inner city, the Inn was dismantled in 2002 and all the parts put in storage. Today, on its former site stands "Queen's Plaza". In April 2013 the original Shingle Inn was re-erected on the ground floor, within the precinct of the City Hall

The Bellchamber sons, Peter and Andrew today run a company franchising Shingle Inn in thirty locations, priding themselves on maintaining the tradition of constructing stores with undeniable character, quality decor and providing the highest quality food. cakes and coffee.

An Article from a Wynnum Herald of 1960's. Did the factory ever come to Wynnum???

Chenille factory to start in Wynnum

$100,000 venture will employ 30

An industrialist from Belfast, Ireland, who has been associated with the weaving and dyeing industry all his life, has moved into Wynnum and already begun factory construction to house plant and machinery which should reach Brisbane in May.

He is Mr James Meikle, whose associate companies in Northern Ireland, Eire and New Zealand, Irish Tapestrys Ltd produce chenille bedspreads, bath mats, etc., in the modern tufting machinery which will be duplicated for the Wynnum factory.

Mr Meikle began operations in New Zealand nine years ago and came to Queensland six months ago to study the potential of this State for the chenille industry.

In an interview with "The Herald" yesterday, Mr Meikle said he was very impressed with what he saw in Brisbane and was confident there was an excellent future for the establishment of his industry in Queensland.

"I was given every assistance by the office of the Minister for Industrial Development and of the industrial areas shown to me. I personally selected Wynnum as the site for future operations".

BAKERY CONVERTED

Some months ago Mr Meikle purchased the old established Carr's Bakery site and premises, as well as the new residence in Berrima Street.

Already the bakery plant has been removed, walls pulled down and alterations are being carried out to the interior of these premises in preparation for the arrival of weaving and dyeing machinery. Mr Meikle holds a degree in science and engineering technology from the University of London and the Queen's University in Belfast. He has designed much of the plant used in his industry in Ireland and New Zealand and will proceed with further plant designing as special effects are needed.

JET CAR

A man who has been interested in motor cycle and car racing for many years, Mr Meikle was the designer and engineer of the first jet racing car run at the Kinkiston circuit in Northern Ireland in 1957 and the first in the world.

He has also raced in England at Goodwood and was awarded the Rosebowl for his effort in creating the jet racer.

A family man, Mr Meikle is accompanied by his wife, two daughters and one son. Mrs Meikle herself has been associated with the weaving trade and was also the holder of an Irish tennis championship title. The daughters, Heather (16) and Carolyn (14) are students of the Moreton Bay College, while son George (12) attends "Churchie".

In New Zealand Heather was the holder of the girls long jump championship in the under 15 years division at Waikato, while Carolyn has shown her prowess as a sprinter over the 100 yards course.

MANAGER

Mr Meikle said a Brisbane man had been appointed manager of the Wynnum factory and would be flown to Northern Ireland to study the weaving industry before the Wynnum plant was opened.

He estimated it would take about 12 months before full staff training would be completed and the Wynnum factory would be self-supporting from its own production line.

If you are able to be involved, please contact Deb on 3396 9697 or email supper@wmhs.org.au or leave your details at the resource centre.

Poetry Corner

- thanks to John Coupland for supplying this one for us...

Another year has passed
and we're all a little older.
Last summer felt hotter
and winter seems much colder.

There was a time not long ago
when life was quite a blast.
Now I fully understand
about "Living in the Past"

We used to go to weddings,
football games and lunches.
Now we go to funeral homes,
and after-funeral brunches.

We used to have hangovers,
from parties that were gay.
Now we suffer body aches
and while the night away.

We used to go out dining,
and couldn't get our fill.
Now we ask for doggie bags,
come home and take a pill.

We used to often travel
to places near and far.
Now we get sore asses
from riding in the car.

We used to go to nightclubs
and drink a little booze.
Now we stay home at night
and watch the evening news.

That, my friend is how life is,
and now my tale is told.

So, enjoy each day and live it up...
before you're too damned old!

In a state of decay in 1981, the Shire Clerk's Cottage was about to be demolished. Lord Mayor Alderman Frank Sleeman of the Brisbane City Council handed over the cottage to the Waterloo Bay Leisure Centre. With a special band of volunteers the Shire Clerk's Cottage was fully restored by 1984. Iris Brewer gives a comprehensive picture of the restoration of the Shire Clerk's Cottage in the book, "Memories of Wynnum 1884-1984".

1983 saw the demolition of the Imperial Theatre situated on the Corner of Florence Street and The Esplanade Wynnum. Originally called the Crown Theatre where silent movies were held. Victor Vizer would play the piano, Herbert Bishop, the violin and Hilda Philips (Bishop) would sing to create the appropriate atmosphere for a scene. It came into the ownership of Mr Geraghty in 1930 and underwent many improvements. In the late 1930's, 40's and 50's bookings were needed to secure a seat each Saturday night.
