FROM THE EDITOR

Sandy Liddle

I am still on the look out for any members willing to provide a short profile about themselves for the newsletters. Alternately, perhaps you may be able to provide a short story about your recollections of growing up in Wynnum/Manly/Lota or about a character from the district. I look forward to being inundated with items.

It isn’t too late to put your name down for the oral history workshop which is now being held on 31 July. Bookings are being taken at the Resource Centre or at the next meeting.

Planning for the next heritage tour is well advanced. Saturday, 26 June is the date of the trip to Nanango. Brian will advise further details at the May meeting however bookings are now open so put your name down at the Resource Centre or at the May meeting to guarantee yourself a seat. Visitors are also welcome so why not bring a friend along.

A few of us recently attended the Irish Night held at Lota House. It was a wonderful night with good company and excellent food. I’m looking forward to the next Lota House event and would recommend these events to everyone.

Unfortunately the Croquet Club has had to reschedule our fun day which was planned for 18 July. A new date will be advised shortly.

Until next month.

FROM THE PRESIDENT

At the time of writing this report I have just returned from a trip to Vietnam. It's good to be back. If you can survive the chaos of the traffic over there, you can have a wonderful holiday. The main reason for my trip to Vietnam was to catch up on my past. A few years ago I gave a talk on my experiences as a National Serviceman during the Vietnam War.

The trip started in Ho Chi Minh City still known as Saigon and once the capital of South Vietnam. The city has seven million people and is still growing. From there I travelled to Vung Tau, a beautiful coastal resort town, where I was stationed over 40 years ago. Very little is left of the Australian Support Base which once occupied the sandhills outside the town. The area is now full of holiday hotels and resorts. I stood on a hill, which had a monument commemorating the Viet Cong. From there I looked down on the site where the Hospital and Ordnance Stores were once located. Later in the evening I met an old friend, "Huong". She had worked for the Australians for five years from 68 to 72. After the collapse of the South Vietnamese government she was imprisoned for two and a half years. Despite her sufferings, she was able to say that now there is peace. She is the mother of four boys. Forty years ago they would have been called up to fight in the army.

On the 25 of April I attended the Anzac Day ceremony at Long Tan, where a cross has been erected. At the service, the Australian and New Zealand ambassadors gave a moving speech on the significance of Anzac Day. Over 300 people attended the Dawn Service and later veterans spoke about the terrible battle that took place among the rubber trees. At Nui Dat, the site of the Australian Army forward base, very little is left. The bitumen airstrip of the Luscombe field is used as a road, while there are a few traces of the Luscombe Bowl, where Little Patti and Col Joye performed while the Battle of Long Tan raged. On our way home from Nui Dat we met up with a former member of the Viet Cong and drank a toast of rice wine. The toast was for reconciliation and forgiveness.

At our last meeting I mentioned that the bell from the old fire station has been given to the WMHS for safekeeping by the brothers of the Franciscan Friary. A decision will need to made to where the bell is housed.

By the time you receive this newsletter we will have made a trip to Nanango in preparation for our next trip. Details will be available at the May meeting.

In response to a photograph in the last newsletter, members will be pleased to learn that Olga Lindsay, who attended Wynnum State High School in 1962/63 found her friend Gayle Haynes. It took quite a bit of detective work on the part of myself and others to track Gayle down. I will tell the story of their reunion in next month's newsletter.

I hope to see you all at the next meeting.

Brian Brandenburg, President
Last time I asked, “Can anyone provide the location of the former St Margaret's Church of England in Primrose Parade?”

St Margaret's Church Hall was situated on the northern side of Primrose Parade, near its junction with Sibley Road. See pages 6 and 7 for more details.

Recently, Lynda Chalmers from Sydney, was passing the Resource Centre, and dropped in to see if we had any information about her grandmother.

Queenie and Mortimer McDonald lived in Cusack Parade in the 1920’s. Lynda’s mother, Phyllis Virginia Chalmers (nee McDonald) was born in 1925. She was one of five girls and one boy. Queenie lived with one of her daughters, Mrs Cassell, in Cedar Street in her later years before entering a nursing home. Can anyone help?

A request from ACT, passed on to us by member Thelma Crouch.

Lillian Chapman lost her father, Lionel, six months ago and is sorting out his photographs. Lionel Davies lived in Ashton Street, about the second house on the left from Tingal Road. He had a sister Grace. He left Wynnum in the late 1940’s and moved to ACT on account of his job as a Scientific Instrument Technician. Lillian has sent this photograph in the hope that the persons, some of which appear to be scouts, can be identified.

When you read this newsletter, the National Trust’s Heritage Week will be over (Mon 10 to Sat 16 May). We thank the Wynnum Library for the loan of their mobile display Board, used for the week, to advertise our presence in the Wynnum Civic Centre.

Till next time, Jill Greenhill
Librarian
No. 1 Jetty was demolished in 1964. Only the “headstock” remains in the concrete capping on top of the sea wall directly facing the end of Glenora Street.

The young girls were Janice and Gene Plint and the photograph was taken about 1945.

Do you know where this plaque can be found – on the Esplanade?

Have your answers ready for the next meeting.

In March 1956, St Margaret’s Church of England Building Committee appealed for help to construct a church Sunday school on land at the Sibley Road end of Primrose Parade. Voluntary working bees at the weekends, together with proceeds from functions organised by the Ladies Guild, had a building erected on the land before the end of 1956.

The second building, costing over £4,500, was erected late in 1963 and seated 150 people.

Extract form the “Wynnum Herald” of 13 May 1964
"BISHOP HUDSON DEDICATES TWO NEW CHURCH HALLS"

The Bishop Coadjutor of Brisbane, the Right Reverent W.J. Hudson, visited the Parish of Wynnum on Sunday 3rd May 1964 to dedicate two new church halls within the Anglican Parish of Wynnum.

At 10.30am the new church hall of St Margaret’s in Primrose Parade was full to capacity. Bishop Hudson, vested in cope and mitre, and carrying a pastoral staff, entered the building to commence the service of dedication. Proceeded by cross bearer, choir and parochial lay readers and the vicar of the parish (Reverend Dr K Raynor), Bishop Hudson entered the main door of the church hall.

The Bishop first dedicated the font, where hence forth new members will be admitted into the Body of Christ, and then, entering the Sanctuary, he proceeded to bless the altar making the mark of the cross five times upon the surface, in accordance with ancient custom. The altar, which to this time had been left completely bare of ornaments, was then covered with the altar cloth and these articles and other furnishings of the sanctuary were in turn blessed by the Bishop. Bishop Hudson next proceeded to the lectern, containing the Holy Bible and dedicated it. In this way was signified the double ministry of the church of the Word and Sacraments of Christ.

Finally in the middle of the body of the hall, the Bishop pronounced the words of dedication of the whole building setting it apart for Christian worship and for other activities of the church. As the building is a “church hall” and not a church proper, it may be used for other activities than worship. On such occasions the sanctuary in which the altar is placed is screened off from the body of the hall.

St Margaret’s is of extremely simple contemporary design, its architecture being in keeping with the hilly nature of the property. An interesting feature of the furnishings is that not only were many of the ornaments given as gifts or memorials by member of the congregation, but the altar credence table and lectern were all actually made by men of the congregation.

(The dedication of the new St Phillip’s in Brand Street, Hemmant took place at 3pm on the same date, Sunday 3 May 1964.)
The first “Birds and Flowers Festival” was staged within St Margaret’s Church Hall on Friday 24 July 1964. Florist, Mrs A Woods, after whom the nearby Florabelle Parade is named, was responsible for the floral art displays. The Festival was an annual event for many years, generally with a morning session with music and a delicious hot luncheon served by the ladies of the St Margaret’s Guild. In the evening there would be a special variety program, with music, artists, competitions and displays. On Thursday 30 July 1970, Mr Raoul Mallish, Assistant Director of the Queensland Art Gallery officially opened that event.

When the new St Peter’s Church was built in 1984, some of the outlying church halls were closed and the land sold for residential development. St Margaret’s building was moved to Murarrie and re-named St Clare’s. The building is now derelict (in May 2010), but still stands at 16 Penelope Street, extending through to the Lytton Road, seen on the left-hand, on the Brisbane side of the Gateway Motorway intersection.

Regardless of the change that has occurred to the landscape and to Aboriginal culture, historical photographs have played an important role in enabling Aboriginal people to assert their connection to community and country. The presenter discusses the various research methods he has used to identify people in historical photos. He will also talk about how Aboriginal community members have played an important role in helping attach valuable information to these photos.&lt;br&gt;Bookings NOT required.&lt;br&gt;Cost: Free.</td>
